Arrangement of Directory

The directory is arranged alphabetically by the name of the home care program. Each entry provides the name, address, telephone number, person(s) in charge, area served, services provided, and sub-office information. An alphabetical listing by city/town/village may be found at the back of the book in order to find which home care program serves that community.

Introduction

The Alberta Coordinated Home Care Program Directory has been developed to provide a broader knowledge of the provincial perspective of home care, and to provide information on where to obtain required services.

The information has been updated through a survey of individual home care programs. The contents reflect the information provided by each home care program, with some editing to maintain consistency.

The directory information will be updated through a formal survey. Informal changes may be submitted at any time on the FEEDBACK form which appears as the last page of the directory.

For further information on the directory or to obtain additional copies, contact:

Coordinated Home Care Program

PURPOSE

- To promote greater personal and family responsibility for health.
- To support families in caring for an ill or elderly family member in the home.
- To promote cooperation among community agencies which provide medical and social services.

FOR WHOM

- Primarily serves the elderly, the chronically ill and the handicapped, but other potential users include palliative care clients and those discharged early from acute treatment hospitals.
- The applicant and his family must be agreeable to treatment being provided in the home.
- The home environment must ensure an adequate standard of care for the individual.
- The applicant must be under the care of a physician, a resident of Alberta, and registered under the Health Insurance Premiums Act.

SERVICES

- Health Services provided by local home care programs vary from area to area but may include some or all of the following:
  - nursing
  - occupational therapy
  - physiotherapy
  - respiratory therapy
  - speech therapy
  - nutrition counselling
- Support services may include:
  - personal care service
  - friendly visiting
  - handyman services
  - homehelp
  - homemaking service
  - meals on wheels
  - transportation
- Many have active volunteer programs

ACCESS

- Referrals to the program are accepted from the family physician, public health nurse, community agencies, relatives and friends. Or, an individual may apply directly on his/her own behalf.
- Persons eligible for the program will have their needs assessed by the Home Care Manager or an assessor on the home care staff. Information is gathered from the applicant and the physician, and from an assessment of the home environment.

FEES

- Health services are provided to users without charge. Support services are provided without charge for the first two weeks a person is on the program. After that, a charge may be levied.

FUNDING

- The Coordinated Home Care Program is funded by Alberta Health and is administered and delivered through the local health units.
